

DisplayTen Launches the 55" Interactive Display to Make Workplace Hangouts Even Smarter

DisplayTen, a leading workplace meeting solutions company announced that it will be launching the 55" interactive display at InfoComm2016.

MILPITAS, Calif., June 1, 2016 /PRNewswire/ -- DisplayTen, a leading workplace meeting solutions company announced that it will be launching the 55" interactive display at InfoComm2016. This new 55" interactive display extends the existing product line of 84" and 70".

The 55" displays will make workplace huddles and hangouts between smaller teams simple and cost effective. With the 55", you can easily show any application, make extensive notes, annotate and edit presentations, spreadsheets, documents and more! DisplayTen's partner network including Zoom, Stampede, Liberty AV, and SP Control will be housing the 55" display in their booths at InfoComm 2016 to showcase sophisticated integrations with their audio visual conferencing technology. The 55" displays would be available in the DisplayTen store in June.

"The 55" display is designed for the millennial and Gen Z. Workplace meetings today are lot more casual, visual, and real time. The new generation does not want to flock to boardrooms. They want to keep their meetings short and share all meeting notes and results instantly. The 55" easily fits into any corporate lounge, offers secure and easy connectivity with the dongle and provides a relaxed and effective stand up meeting experience with a comprehensive feature set," says Wei Liu, CEO and Founder at DisplayTen.

"DisplayTen shows immense promise with its technology maturity, feature set, and channel relationships. From having talked with several enterprise customers and partners worldwide, there are several workplace meeting solutions out there, but they do not quite capture the customer's pulse entirely. DisplayTen is closing this gap by listening to its customers and integrating new features and user experience pretty frequently", says Padmini Murthy, Head of Marketing at DisplayTen."

"In a very short time, DisplayTen has gained traction with leading brands globally and projects a very bullish growth to take the corporate meetings market share", she adds. Padmini recently joined the DisplayTen team to run corporate and channel marketing.

If you're at InfoComm, please stop by our booth to meet the DisplayTen team and learn how they are disrupting the workplace meeting technology. We are in booth# N2713.
